

RETRO DUO

The RetroDuo roof cover is one of the newest solutions available for roofs, successfully combining in one product the expectations of both the clients, and the architects and the fitters.

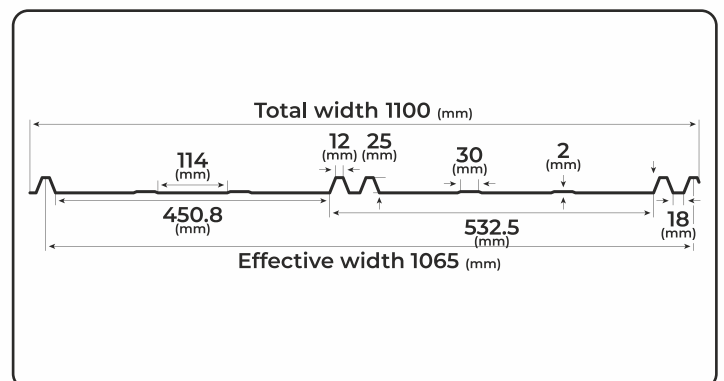

RetroDuo is an innovative product, specially designed to mix the aesthetics of the Retro Panel roof cover with an installation similar to the one for metal roof tiles.

This type of metal cover has an elegant, modern and distinguished look, being suitable both for new houses, and for renovated houses with a desire to maintain the traditional style. It can be used both for the roof, and for plating the facades of residential or commercial buildings.

The longitudinal lines on the surface of its profile are designed for aesthetic purposes, providing the roof with undeniable elegance, but also for technical purposes, thus ensuring additional rigidity for the metal panels.

ADVANTAGES:

- Low purchase and fitting costs compared to other similar products
- Easy fitting, which does not require additional folding
- It can be used both as a roof, and for plating the facades of residential or commercial buildings.
- The longitudinal lines on the surface of its profile ensure additional rigidity for the metal panels
- Suitable for heritage buildings
- Wide range of colors
